Best known for directing the Impressionist classic The Smiling

Madame Beudet and the first Surrealist film The Seashell and the Clergyman, Germaine Dulac, feminist and pioneer of 1920s French avant-garde cinema, made close to thirty fiction films as well as numerous documentaries and newsreels. Through her filmmaking, writing, and cine-club activism, Dulac's passionate defense of the cinema as a lyrical art and social practice had a major influence on twentieth century film history and theory. In Germaine Dulac: A Cinema of Sensations, Tami Williams makes unprecedented use of the filmmaker's personal papers, production files, and archival film prints to produce the first full-length historical study and critical biography of Dulac. Williams's analysis explores the artistic and sociopolitical currents that shaped Dulac's approach to cinema while interrogating the ground breaking techniques and strategies she used to critique conservative notions of gender and sexuality. Moving beyond the director's work of the 1920s, Williams examines Dulac's largely ignored 1930s documentaries and newsreels establishing clear links with the more experimental impressionist and abstract works of her early period. This vivid portrait will be of interest to general readers, as well as to scholars of cinema and visual culture, performance, French history, women's studies, queer cinema, in addition to studies of narrative avant-garde, experimental, and documentary film history and theory.

 Le 12 juin 1999, dans la portion d'Indianapolis du circuit des 24 Heures du Mans, la Mercedes CLR n°5 lancée à plus de 300 km/h perd l'appui et commence à décoller, tel un avion, puis tourne trois fois en l'air avant de s'écraser sur les arbres en bord de piste. C'est l'un des accidents les plus célèbres et les plus spectaculaires de la course automobile moderne. Personne ne croit une seconde que le pilote est en vie. Les pace-cars et le personnel de sécurité accourent à son secours. Et pourtant, à la stupeur générale, Peter Dumbreck s'en sortira indemne. L'édition 1999, marquée par cet accident spectaculaire, restera aussi comme la course ayant vu s'affronter tous les plus grands constructeurs une dernière fois avant la fin du siècle. Nouvel arrivant dans la collection Plein Gaz, LF Bollée raconte la course incroyable de 1999 des 24 Heures du Mans - qu'il a lui-même couverte en tant que journaliste sportif ! Album officiel réalisé en collaboration avec les 24 Heures du Mans.

1999 : le choc des titans Lannoo Uitgeverij
 This 1999 reference grammar, written for advanced students of French, their teachers, and others who want a better understanding of the French language, combines the best of modern and traditional approaches. Its objective is not only practical mastery of the language, but familiarity with its structure. Taking into account modern linguistic research, Advanced French Grammar approaches the French language primarily through the study of syntactic structures, but without excessive emphasis on formalism. It provides a generous number of examples, based on the author's own experience of teaching French to English-speakers, to help the student to understand the different meanings of apparently similar syntactic alternatives. The norms of 'correct expression' are given together with current usage and deviations, and appendixes provide information on the 1990 spelling reforms and on numbers. A substantial index of French and English words and of topics provides easy access to the text itself.

Expo 3 Rouge Pupil Book Routledge

This comprehensive manual thoroughly covers every aspect of French grammar, from the basic to the most advanced level, and illustrates the grammatical structures with useful, practical and interesting examples. It can be used as a classroom text in intermediate and advanced courses, as well as for reference and self-study.

The central aim of this interdisciplinary book is to make visible the intentionality behind the 'forgetting' of European women's contributions during the period between the two world wars in the context of politics, culture and society. It also seeks to record and analyse women's agency in the construction and reconstruction of Europe and its nation states after the First World War, and thus to articulate ways in which the writing of women's history necessarily entails the rewriting of everyone's history. By showing that the erasure of women's texts from literary and cultural history was not accidental but was ideologically motivated, the essays explicitly and implicitly contribute to debates surrounding canon formation. Other important topics are women's political activism during the period, antifascism, the contributions made by female journalists, the politics of literary production, genre, women's relationship with and contributions to the avant-garde, women's professional lives, and women's involvement in voluntary associations. In bringing together the work of scholars whose fields of expertise are diverse but whose interests converge on the inter-war period, the volume invites readers to make connections and comparisons across the whole spectrum of women's political, social, and cultural activities throughout Europe.

Rivalités italiennes. En 1961, au départ des 24 heures du Mans, la supériorité de Ferrari s'apprête à devenir hégémonique. Après sa victoire en 1960 face à Aston Martin, la marque au cheval cabré compte bien prouver l'efficacité de ses TR61 et 250GT. Face à elles, les Aston Martin marqueront le pas et seules les Maserati pourront rivaliser un temps. Mais après plus de 4.000 kilomètres d'asphalte parcourus, trois Ferrari occupent les trois premières places du classement général. Mais ce n'est que le début d'une nouvelle ère ! Anecdotes historiques, apartés éclairants et coup d'œil jeté dans les coulisses jalonnent le récit de ce nouvel album consacré aux années 1961 à 1963 des 24 heures du Mans. Mené par l'érudition exemplaire de Denis Bernard et Christian Papazoglakis, frisson, drame et rebondissements sont au rendez-vous de ces trois années remarquables pour le sport automobile.

La France contemporaine John Murray

A detailed study of the medium-sized touring cars in the extensive range built by Bugatti during the 15 years that followed the 1914-18 war. Aspects of design and development are considered, together with pictures of components and chassis, commencing with the Type 28 and culminating with the Type 49. These cars represented the bulk of production, and typify the Bugatti style and design, which was the basis of the company's unique standing in the field of automobile engineering. Over 150 different cars are depicted in 200 principally contemporary photographs, many of which have not been published before. The works of numerous European coachbuilders that built upon these chassis, are illustrated together with tables showing their market position compared with their competitors. A study of the performance of these cars in competition is also included, together with a survey of the fall and rise in values over eight decades. p.p1 {margin: 0.0px 0.0px 0.0px 0.0px; font: 11.0px Arial} This book represents an important addition to the series published by Veloce, covering models Type 40, Types 46/50 and Types 57/57S. The royalties pass to the Bugatti Trust, a foundation dedicated to the study of the works of Ettore Bugatti and the furtherance of aesthetics in engineering design.

Written in both English and French, The 9.5mm Vintage Film Encyclopaedia provides a single-volume, comprehensive catalogue of all known 9.5mm film releases, including: Films: Comprising 12,460 individual entries, this A-Z reference index provides the main listing for each film and its origin where known, along with additional information including cast and crew, and cross references to other relevant material. People: This index of all known actors and film crew, comprising over 12,000 names, provides a listing which is cross referenced to the main entry for each original film they worked on. Numbers: Pathé-Baby/Pathéscope and other distributors' catalogue numbers, film length, release dates (where known) and the series in which the films were organised, are set out in detail. With a foreword from eminent film historian and filmmaker, Keith Brownlow, this extensively researched text explains the importance of the 9.5mm film, from its beginnings in the early 1920s to becoming synonymous with Home Cinema throughout Europe. Readers will also find a brief technical explanation on how 9.5mm films were produced, along with relevant images.

Le bourgeois de Roche-Bleue Simon and Schuster

An Open Access edition of this book will be available on the Liverpool University Press website and the OAPEN library. Since its invention, the automobile has been systematically 'consumed', to become part of the fabric of twentieth- and twenty-first-century society, its impact and perception making the car an accurate gauge of changing cultural norms and values. As it grew in popularity, the automobile conditioned the very texture of modern life, and the particularly car-centred society of contemporary France is an especially apt locus for examination. The ubiquity of the automobile across all social strata provides us with a defined lens through which to examine the evolution of French society in the modern and post-modern eras. Taking the Second World War as a pivotal moment in recent French history, this book demonstrates how the automobile was both consumed and fetishized in distinct ways before and after this conflict. The ways in which society evolved from the pre- to the post-war period allow us to view French culture through the prism of the automobile as it embodied technological and social progress in twentieth-century France. The present volume seeks to explore and interrogate the processes of representation and mediation inherent in the evolving patterns of automobile consumption, and their subsequent impacts on local and national identity, framed by a detailed case study centred on France from the late-nineteenth century to the oil crisis of the early 1970s.

24 Heures du Mans - 1958-1960 Lonely Planet

1969. Sur la ligne de départ des 24 Heures du Mans, tous les pilotes s'apprêtent à s'élancer au pas de course pour sauter dans leurs bolides. Tous, sauf un : Jacky Ickx. Pour protester contre le danger du départ "en épi" et en mémoire de l'accident de son ami Willy Mairesse survenu lors de l'édition pluvieuse de 1968, Ickx décide de marcher pour rejoindre sa GT40. Partant bon dernier, sur le modèle vieillissant de Ford, il remonte petit à petit les redoutables Porsche, pourtant largement favorites, aboutissant à un final des plus mémorables ! Malgré ses vingt-quatre ans, le jeune prodige belge laisse entrevoir, en plus de ses qualités de vitesse pure, un sens tactique redoutable... Ce nouvel album des 24 Heures du Mans relate deux de ses éditions les plus célèbres et fait aussi la part belle aux "ancêtres", puisqu'il s'agit des deux fois où Ford s'imposera avec sa mythique GT40 face aux modèles récents.
